

Dr. Detre Declares Tests Prove His Theories Right

gentlemen who attended the conference this morning determined to present resolutions covering this subject to section 7 of the congress, the ideas being that these resolutions will be reported to the main body by the section adopting them. While the nature of these resolutions is not disclosed, the intimation given is that they will cover practically the same grounds embodied in the side-tracked resolutions of the morning's conference. If indeed, they are not the identical resolutions. Such presentation to the section will probably be made at the session this afternoon and in such an event it seems probable that Dr. Koch and his supporters may accept the issue and combat the adoption of the resolutions which are understood to be a direct rejection of his theory.

Many Papers Read.

This was the last day for the section meetings, and in the different rooms about two score of papers were read, the great majority of them on strictly technical subjects, such as the treatment of tuberculosis in the different parts of the body.

This afternoon there will be a reception at the White House, at which the President will greet the official delegates from abroad and from the different States. It is expected that he will make an address to the delegates, praising them for the work they are doing in the suppression of tuberculosis, and telling them of his plans in that direction.

It is possible that the President at that time will express his views on the proposed establishment of a national board of health, which has been advocated by a number of prominent American experts, including Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale; Surgeon General Wyman, of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, and Dr. Wiley, of the Agricultural Department.

Tomorrow morning there will be a general meeting of the delegates in the large assembly hall of the New National Museum, and at that meeting, it is understood, resolutions will be adopted in an attempt to harmonize the theories of Dr. Koch and the other great specialists, who have been in variance during the week, and for which purpose a meeting was held at the Hotel Willard today.

Dr. Wilbur's Address.

"The registration of sickness and death from tuberculosis is an essential step in the State and municipal control of the disease," said Dr. Cressy L. Wilbur, chief statistician of the Bureau of Census, today.

"These data are of value to a sanitary administrator from a statistical standpoint and as a guide in instituting prophylactic measures. Anything less than complete statistics should not be attempted, as imperfect ones may be worse than useless. Accurate registration of cases of much greater value than registration of deaths, but extremely difficult of accomplishment and not to be expected when deaths themselves are not recorded. Organized efforts of their collection should be commended by the congress on tuberculosis and supported by its members in the United States, and a resolution is offered to this effect. Indorsement of the international classification of diseases by the congress is urged to secure comparable statistics. The formulation of a standard classification of causes of sickness and death, and a resolution is presented to this end. The medical profession should be educated to present, and the people to demand the truth as to the occurrence of tuberculosis, consequently failure to report its existence should be considered a dishonorable professional act."

As Used in Finland.

That tuberculosis purum has been used with great success in Finland, was the substance of a paper read by Dr. J. Gabriellowitch, who said:

"Tuberculinum purum has been employed in sanatoria as well as in private practice, and always gave good results. In contrast to the old tuberculin, tuberculinum purum can also be used in cases of acute or subacute tuberculosis. Tuberculinum purum is not contra-indicated in the presence of complications in other organs than the lungs. Yet the most favorable results have been in chronic, uncomplicated cases.

Speaking on "Day Camps for Consumptives," Dr. David Townsend said: "Until recent years there has been very little or no provision in this country in the fight against tuberculosis, for the type of case which for one reason or another is unsuitable for the incipient hospital or sanatorium, and yet is sufficiently advanced to require treatment in an advanced hospital or home."

In 1902 the Boston Association for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis opened and operated in the summer months, in Boston the first day camp in this country. A similar camp was operated in the summer of 1903 and again in 1907."

Dental Conditions

A paper which attracted much attention today was "The Importance of Oral and Dental Conditions in Tuberculosis," by Dr. William R. Woodbury, of Boston, Mass.

He said: "Well cared for teeth and a clean mouth help to prevent tuberculosis. A mouth which is full of decaying stumps cannot do its work properly. It cannot thoroughly chew the food which the body needs to enable it to combat disease. Mastication is the key which

A GOOD COFFEE, well made, clears the brain and rejoices the heart against the day's cares and worries.

The Washington Branch of this great concern is selling more coffee, and, we are frank to say, better coffee, than ever before in its history.

We feel that now is the time to still further increase these sales, and, propose, if possible, to make our business reach a notch higher during the present year, both in point of popularity and sales.

unlocks nutriment from food. Complete and deliberate chewing mixes the food and the saliva—an important factor in digestion. Saliva is the first digestive fluid food meets. Good and nourishing food and in generous measure is a first essential in the treatment of tuberculosis; it is essential for the cure of this disease, and it is an important factor in its prevention.

"Decayed teeth not only lead to their own destruction, but they are also ideal culture mediums; they are human culture tubes for the growth and spread of infection. They are wide-open and unguarded storehouses of infection which are a constant menace to their owners and to others. Diseased teeth seriously interfere with digestion; they lower the vitality; they cause a swelling and an infection of the glands of the neck, and infected food which is swallowed may infect other organs of the body. Dental cripples may become easy victims of tuberculosis. They invite this disease; and having once acquired it they have smaller promise of being cured. Diseased teeth should be carefully watched and treated."

Francis E. Leupp, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, read a paper before section six on the subject of tuberculosis among the Indians.

him as to this financial collapse. Mr. Sheldon is the man under the probe, not Mr. Hitchcock. By firing a blast at Sheldon today, the Democrats may have added to the embarrassment of getting rid of him. It is probable that he would have been retired or else retained in a nominal position of authority with somebody else to do the work, but such a change now, it is pointed out, would look like confession that the Democratic charges against him were what forced him out.

Chairman Hitchcock does not know whether he will go to Washington, en route to Chicago; but if he does go, he will not be called on the carpet. He will report on the difficulties of his job, and get some counsel about it.
